Job Application for Security Intelligence Engineer Intern

Dear Recruiter(s),

About Me

The resume in front of you represents who I am - a creative and passionate individual who enjoys building and designing things. I am an undergraduate at Carleton University studying Information Technology and Network Technology. After completing my bachelor's, I plan on pursuing a career in the cybersecurity field. I started learning more about cybersecurity, given it is a topic of high interest. I am very passionate when it comes to working with technology and would make a great asset to your team.

Why Lookup?

Lookout's commitment to a privacy-focused world is of particular interest to me because of my passion for security and digital privacy. In my previous semester, I have taken a network security class and hope to keep expanding my cybersecurity knowledge and continue my career in the subject.

Why Me?

My current position as an intern with a tech start-up for which I help manage their IT, develop websites, and monitor backups and procedures to ensure data security and integrity, gave me insight into the inner working of corporate infrastructure and how to assist in the growth of the company. I'm excited at the prospect of bringing the skills I developed throughout my experiences to the Security Intelligence Engineer Intern role at Lookout.

Sincerely,

Noah Arcand Da Silva
